Description

The Walther Rotex RM8 is a multicultural marvel: English style, Italian wooden stock by Minelli, but made in Germany through and through. This 8-shot compressed air rifle comes in a range of energies for hunting and recreation. The ergonomic stock fits perfectly in your hands. The barrel, manufactured by Walther, has a 1/2" UNF thread for a silencer, as standard the RM8 includes removable muzzle break. A filler valve and pressure gauge are built in, but sights are not provided because this rifle is designed for use with a telescopic sight.

The RM8 Black Varmint with popular synthetic thumbhole stock is very durable and all in black.

Flexible - Barrel with 1/2" UNF thread for mounting a silencer. Complete with muzzle break.

Convenient - Integrated 232 bar bottle tank.

Quick-Fill - The filling valve and the manometer are both hidden in the forestock. The built-in bottle serves also as a grip for the holding hand.

Solid - Aluminium rotary magazine with wide retaining ring, securing the pellets.

Precise - 11mm dovetail rail for mounting a telescopic sight.

Safe - Manual safety.

Fast - Trigger with adjustable travel.

Accuracy - The bolt-action moves one pellet from the rotary magazine into the barrel, from where the air propels it further. This increases the precision.

Grip - Minelli beech stock with checkered grip and forend.

Calibre 4,5 mm (.177) or 5,5 mm (.22) Pellet

Energy 16 Joule

Trigger XT-trigger: adjustable trigger travel

Length 1040 mm
Weight 3610 g
